State Police and Milton Police Make arrest in April Murder

Contact: D.Traub, 781-830-4800 x 217

A 30-year old Roxbury man was arrested Sept. 26, 2013 by Massachusetts State Police detectives attached to the Norfolk District Attorney's Office, Milton Police and Boston Police for the April 2013 murder of Jordan Baskin in the town of Milton, District Attorney Michael W. Morrissey and Chief Richard G. Wells, Jr. announced.

"Nathaniel Brown, of 213 Geneva Avenue, Roxbury, Mass., was arrested Thursday night on an indictment warrant obtained earlier this week from Norfolk Superior Court," District Attorney Michael W. Morrissey said. "He was arrested in the area of Geneva Avenue after a two-day search."

Brown pled not guilty at his Sept. 27 arraignment in the Norfolk Superior Court. Assistant District Attorney Craig Kowalski asked Judge Raymond P. Veary, Jr. to hold the defendant without bail; defense counsel Amy McNamee asked for $10,000 cash bail with community monitoring. Judge Veary ordered the defendant held without bail. He is due back in Norfolk Superior Court Oct. 9 for pre-trial conference.

Massachusetts State Police homicide detectives attached to District Attorney Morrissey's Office and Milton Police have been developing information and evidence on the case since the night of the April 14 stabbing, Morrissey said. Brown was arrested shortly before 9 p.m.

"Jordan Baskin's father was in their home at Hudson Street that night and heard a loud crash from downstairs. When he went down to investigate, he found his 22-year old son suffering from the several stab wounds that would prove to be fatal," District Attorney Morrissey said. "This has been a grave ordeal for this family, and we are pleased for them that the Norfolk County Grand Jury has issued these indictments and this case can now move to the Norfolk Superior Court for prosecution."

"The Milton Police and Chief Wells have been excellent partners in this investigation working with the State Police detective unit in the DA's office," Morrissey said. "The Quincy and Boston Police departments assisted in our efforts to locate Mr. Brown in areas he is known to frequent."

All defendants are presumed innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.
